

Dr. Nathaniel Schuster is a headache and pain neurologist and associate clinic director at UC San Diego Center for Pain Medicine. Dr. Schuster is recipient of the Migraine Research Foundation 2018 Impact Award and is currently conducting the first randomized, double-blind, placebo-controlled study of cannabis for acute migraine. He is a section co-editor for the journal Pain Medicine. A graduate of University of Michigan Medical School, Dr. Schuster completed Headache and Facial Pain Fellowship at Montefiore Headache Center, Pain Medicine Fellowship at Massachusetts General Hospital, and neurology residency at Ronald Reagan-UCLA Medical Center.