

Mansoureh Togha M.D She is a Clinical Professor of Neurology at The Tehran University of Medical Sciences, where she teaches medical students and neurology residents. She is the founder and president of Iranian Headache Association as a subdivision of INA and the representative of IHA in European headache Federation. She has co-authored 124 articles. She has had more than 130 lectures and posters in different national and international congresses and seminars. She has been received Avicenna, Hakim Jorjani award as one of the best university teachers in the field of education. She is the editor of headache section of Iranian Journal of Neurology. She has co-authored 6 books on different neurological topics. She is the reviewer of different international Headache and neurology journals.